1. GENERAL PROVISIONS

1.1 SCOPE OF THE AGREEMENT

The Agreement governs the provision of maintenance services for software and any equipment as specified in more detail in the Appendices.

The Maintenance and service agreement has a contractual length of 3 years. In addition, there is a unilateral option for the Customer on 1 + 1 year expansion.

The Customer has, based on its purposes and needs, specified its requirements in Appendix 1 (Customer requirements specification). The Contractor has described its solutions based on customer specifications in Appendix 2 (Contractor solution specification). If the Contractor is of obvious errors, omissions or ambiguities in the Customer requirement specification, the Contractor shall specify this in Appendix 2.

1.3 INTERPRETATION – RANKING

Changes to the general contractual wording shall be set out in Appendix 8, unless the general contractual wording refers such changes to a different Appendix.

The following principles of interpretation shall apply in the case of conflict:

1. The general contractual wording shall prevail over the Appendices.
2. Appendix 1 shall prevail over the other Appendices.

3. To the extent that the clause or clauses that have been changed, replaced or supplemented, are clearly and unequivocally specified, the following principles of precedence shall apply:
 - a) Appendix 2 shall prevail over Appendix 1.
 - b) Appendix 8 shall prevail over the general contractual wording.
 - c) If the general contractual wording refers to changes to any other Appendix than Appendix 8, such changes shall prevail over the general contractual wording.
 - d) Appendix 9 shall prevail over the other Appendices.

A third party's terms and conditions governing the maintenance of third party software shall not release the Contractor's from any obligations under the Agreement to any extent greater than that set out in clause 2.2.5.

1.4 CHANGES SUBSEQUENT TO THE CONCLUSION OF THE AGREEMENT

Changes to the deliverables subsequent to the conclusion of the Agreement shall be made in accordance with the provisions in chapter 3.

1.5 THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE PARTIES

Upon the conclusion of the Agreement, each of the parties shall appoint a representative who is authorised to act on behalf of such party in matters relating to the Agreement. The authorised representatives of the parties, as well as procedures and notice periods for any replacement thereof, shall be specified in more detail in Appendix 6.

1.6 PHASES OF THE AGREEMENT

The Agreement consists of three phases: the establishment phase (clause 2.1), ordinary maintenance (clause 2.2) and the discharge phase (clauses 4.2 and 4.3).

2. PERFORMANCE OF THE DELIVERABLES

2.1 ESTABLISHMENT OF THE MAINTENANCE SERVICES

2.1.1 Plan for the establishment phase

The Contractor shall prepare, in collaboration with the Customer, a plan with a description of purpose, organisation, activities, detailed plans concerning progress, etc., for establishing the maintenance services. The plan shall include a description of roles and responsibilities, as well as a progress plan, including the need for information and deliveries from any previous maintenance contractors. The plan shall conform to the limits set out in Appendix 2.

2.1.2 Cooperation plan

The Contractor shall prepare, or make available, a cooperation plan. The cooperation plan shall be finalised in consultation with the Customer. The cooperation plan shall contain the routines and procedures necessary for the interaction between the Customer and the Contractor, including:

- procedures for error handling (also see clause 2.2.5),
- procedures for change handling, for the software being maintained and for changes to the platform, respectively,
- any routines and plans for meetings, and
- cooperation with the Customer's other providers (such as the provider of operational services).

The cooperation plan shall be based on the cooperation requirements the Customer has specified in Appendix 6 and the requirements for the maintenance services in Appendix 1.

2.2 PERFORMANCE OF ORDINARY MAINTENANCE

2.2.1 Scope of the maintenance services

The Contract shall provide the maintenance services for software and equipment as specified in more detail in Appendices 1 and 2.

Unless otherwise is specified in Appendix 1 or Appendix 2, the maintenance services shall, as a minimum, include error handling and the services required to maintain the software's interaction with other software covered by the maintenance services (see Appendix 3).

The deliveries from the Contractor shall, in an integrated manner, serve the functions and meet the requirements specified in the Agreement.

Appendices 1 and 2 may describe how old versions of the relevant software and equipment should be maintained.

2.2.2 Reporting performed maintenance

The Contractor shall, on a regular basis, provide the Customer with a readily understandable report that describes what maintenance and what servicing has been performed. Unless otherwise is agreed in Appendix 6, the Contractor's standard format and level shall be used for such reporting. The reporting obligation may be described in more detail in the cooperation plan.

2.2.3 Updating of documentation

To the extent that performed maintenance is of importance in relation to the associated documentation, documentation updates shall be made available to the Customer without undue delay. The scope of the updating obligation may be specified in more detail in Appendices 1 and 2.

2.2.4 User support

If the Agreement includes user support, such services shall be described in Appendix 6. The users or user groups at the Customer who may seek assistance may also be agreed in Appendix 6. A maximum annual volume of enquiries that shall be covered by the fixed price may also be agreed. If the Contractor guarantees a response within certain deadlines, this shall be set out in the service level agreement in Appendix 5.

2.2.5 Error handling

The Customer shall report any errors without undue delay. The Contractor shall assist with identifying and rectifying errors within the framework defined in Appendix 2, and based on the framework set out in the service level agreement in Appendix 5. If the agreed deadlines are not complied with, the Customer may demand standardised compensation as stipulated in the service level agreement in Appendix 5.

Unless otherwise is agreed in Appendix 5, the following error definitions shall apply:

Level	Category	Description
A	Critical error	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Error that results in the stoppage of the software or equipment, a loss of data, or in other functions that, based on an objective assessment, are of critical importance to the Customer not working as agreed. - The documentation being so incomplete or misleading that the Customer is unable to use the software or the equipment, or material parts thereof.
B	Serious error	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Error that results in functions that, based on an objective assessment, are of importance to the Customer not working as described in the agreement, and which it is time-consuming and costly to work around. - The documentation being incomplete or misleading, and this resulting in the Customer being unable to use functions that, based on an objective assessment, are of importance to the Customer.
C	Less serious error	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Error that results in individual functions not working as intended, but which can be worked around with relative ease by the Customer. - The documentation being incomplete or imprecise.

To the extent that the services include the maintenance of standard software that the Contractor has not developed itself or does not maintain itself, or where elements of the services are in some other manner delivered by a third party and the Customer has not itself concluded a maintenance agreement with the software producer, the Contractor shall conclude the necessary agreement with the software producer. The terms and conditions for the maintenance that are agreed between the Contractor and the software producer shall be explicitly specified in a separate chapter in Appendix 2, and copies of the terms and conditions for the maintenance shall be appended as Appendix 10. If the Customer has itself concluded a maintenance agreement with the aforementioned software producer, these shall be appended to the Agreement as Appendix 10. The Contractor may request that the Customer assert or, with the agreement with the Customer, itself assert the Customer's rights in relation to the software producer under the standard maintenance agreement for the third party software.

If deviations in the deliverables are caused by errors in standard software and access to the standard software's source code is required in order to rectify these, and the Contractor does not itself have access to the source code, the Contractor's obligation to rectify the errors is limited to reporting the error to the software producer, seeking to the best of its ability to make rectification of the error a priority, keeping the Customer informed about the status of the error rectification, and ensuring correct installation after the error in the standard software has been rectified by the software producer, or alternatively making the update that rectifies the error available to the Customer if the Contractor is not responsible for installation pursuant to clause 2.2.6.

The Contractor shall make a reasonable effort to find a temporary solution while the software producer rectifies the error. A maximum financial limit for the Contractor's obligation to work out temporary solutions that work around errors in standard software can be agreed in Appendix 7.

If errors that are covered by paragraph four of this provision (errors in standard software that require access to the source code in order to rectify them) result in delays or deviations in respect of the agreed service criteria in Appendix 5, the Contractor shall not be liable for that part of the deviation that can be attributed to the error in the standard software, including deficient error rectification by a third party. However, the Contractor shall be liable for delays and deviations in respect of the agreed service level that are caused by the Contractor failing to perform its obligation to follow up the error rectification and install, or make available, updates that rectify the error as stipulated in paragraph four.

2.2.6 Installation of patches, etc.

The Contractor is responsible for installing patches unless Appendix 1 specifies that this shall be performed by the Customer itself or the Customer's provider of operational services. The provisions governing the installation of new versions in clause 2.2.7, paragraph two, shall also apply to the installation of patches. The installation of patches shall be covered by the fixed consideration for maintenance, unless this has been priced separately in Appendix 7.

If it has been agreed in Appendix 5 that the Contractor may rectify an error by sending or making available a patch to the Customer, it shall do so in accordance with agreed procedures set out in Appendix 5 or Appendix 6. The Contractor shall in such a case furnish the Customer with instructions as to how the patch, etc., shall be installed. The Customer shall install the patch, etc., as soon as possible, or as per the instructions of the Contractor. Any deadlines shall be set out in Appendix 5.

If the rectification of an error consists of a new version of the software, the new version shall also be covered by the fixed consideration for maintenance. The Contractor may only rectify errors by delivering a new version if the Customer can utilise it on the Customer's existing technical platform. If the new version can only be utilised if an upgrade of the Customer's technical platform is performed or if changes are made to the Customer's other systems, the Customer shall have the right to demand that the error be rectified in some other manner, unless otherwise is specified in Appendix 1.

2.2.7 New versions

New versions of the software specified in Appendix 3 shall be covered by the Agreement, unless otherwise is stipulated in Appendix 1 or Appendix 2. New versions shall be covered by the fixed consideration for maintenance, unless this is priced separately in Appendix 7 (for example, in the case of larger upgrades).

When a new version of software can be made available to the Customer, the Contractor shall notify the Customer of this. The Customer shall have the right to ask the Contractor for assistance with installing the new version. The Contractor shall charge the hourly rates for performing the installation work that are set out for such work in Appendix 7, unless otherwise is specified in Appendix 7.

Any modifications that were made for the Customer in the version being replaced shall be implemented by the Contractor in the new version before it is made available to the Customer. The Contractor shall charge the hourly rates for performing the modification and implementation work that are set out for such work in Appendix 7, unless otherwise is specified in Appendix 7.

The Contractor shall have an obligation, for a minimum of four (4) years after the agreement has come into force, to make new versions of software, etc. covered by the Agreement, cf. Appendix 3, available regularly such that the Customer can comply with the recommended upgrade schedule for new versions of commonly used software that is utilised as part of the Customer's technical platform. Specific deadlines may be agreed in Appendix 5 and software that is exempt from this provision may be specified in Appendix 5.

2.2.8 Further development

The Customer may order the further development of software that is covered by the maintenance agreement within the framework described in Appendices 1 and 2. This includes the development of additional functionality that is moderate in scope. The consideration for such further development shall be the Contractor's ordinary hourly rate set out in Appendix 7, unless another model for consideration is set out in Appendix 7. The parties shall agree a progress plan for such development and acceptance criteria. The parties may choose to utilise SSA-O or SSA-B for the performance of such development.

Software that is developed pursuant to this clause shall become part of the software that shall be maintained under the Agreement. If the consideration for maintenance shall be adjusted, this shall be clearly set out in the agreement governing the development assignment.

2.2.9 Supplementary purchases

The Customer may, throughout the entire term of the Agreement, carry out supplementary purchases and extend or expand its licensing within the limits of, and to the extent that is required to maintain or achieve, the overall goal of the deliverables as described in Appendix 1.

"Supplementary purchases" means replacements or additions of equipment that forms part of the solution that shall be maintained when such replacements or additions are required to maintain the reliability of the solution or keep it up-to-date, and in connection with expansions to new premises and similar. This shall also apply in the case of replacements that are required to fulfil new statutory or regulatory requirements to which the solution that shall be maintained is subject.

"Extend or expand its licensing" means securing the rights in respect of previously procured software (including new versions) that are required for more users and entities to use it, for it to be used in more locations, or to expand the scope of its use beyond what was originally agreed, as well as the purchase of new licences when such licences are otherwise necessary to ensure continued interaction with the solution, to fulfil new statutory or regulatory requirements to which the solution that shall be maintained is subject, or to supplement the solution within the framework of the overall goal as set out in Appendix 1.

In the case of supplementary purchases and licensing extensions and expansions, the Customer shall pay the Contractor's list price on the date of the purchase after the deduction of the discount set out in Appendix 7. In the case of extensions to existing licences, the Customer's existing agreement governing the right of disposal in respect of the licence concerned shall apply, unless otherwise is agreed in each instance. In the case of the purchase of new licences pursuant to paragraph three, the licensor's standard terms and conditions for such purchases shall apply, unless otherwise follows from another agreement or is agreed in each instance.

Software and equipment that is procured pursuant to this clause shall become part of what shall be maintained under the Agreement. If the maintenance consideration shall be adjusted, this shall be clearly set out in the agreement governing supplementary purchases or licensing extensions and expansions.

2.2.10 Additional services

The Customer may order those additional services naturally associated with the maintenance; for example, periods of expanded standby services, monitoring, assistance with testing changes and new versions, etc. The services and the consideration relating thereto shall be described in the Contractor's service directory, which forms part of Appendix 7.

Additional services shall be registered in Appendix 9.

2.3 REPORTING AND REVISION

If the service level applicable to the maintenance deliverables is agreed in Appendix 5, the Customer shall on a regular basis receive reports documenting that the deliverables are in conformity with the agreed level and specifying any deviations. Unless otherwise stipulated, the reporting shall take place on a monthly basis. The reporting shall address all material aspects of the regulation of the service level. The report shall specify how the measurement of the service level has been carried out. In addition, it shall contain the following:

- The number of reported errors, including a description thereof and specification of the response time and the amount of time elapsed before such errors had been rectified.
- Description of any upgrades and other changes made during the reporting period.
- If user support falls within the scope of the Agreement, the number of user support requests, including a description thereof and specification of the response times and outcomes.

The Customer has the right to audit and verify that the Contractor complies with the agreed commitments In the Maintenance Agreement. Date and method of implementation of audit and assistance are agreed in the individual case.

3. CHANGES SUBSEQUENT TO THE CONCLUSION OF THE AGREEMENT

3.1 THE CUSTOMER'S ACCESS TO MAKE CHANGES

The Customer has the right to make changes to increase or decrease in scope, nature, type, quality or performance of services as well as changes to the Progress Plan, provided that such changes are within what the parties may reasonably expect when the agreement was concluded.

The Contractor is not obliged to carry out change work that together represents more than 20 % net addition to the original contract price per year, unless it is a disputed change order. The limitation does not apply to any changes that are necessary as a result of changed legal requirements.

For benefits that are included in the services that are priced after actual use, increases or reductions within any specified limits will not constitute a service change pursuant to clause 3 of the Agreement.

Changes and additions to the agreement can be made in all phases of the contract.

Unless otherwise stated in the change order, the Contractor shall, within 10 (ten) business days of written request for service change, assess the relevant risk and impacts of the change and provide a price estimate. Upon request for major changes, can the parties agree to an extension of the deadline by a reasonable number of days. In such cases, the Contractor may always require extension of the deadline by up to 10 (ten) business days. Request for extension of time must be sent by the end of the 10 day deadline in the first sentence.

The investigation shall include at least the following points:

- a. Description of the service change
- b. Description of the work that must be done to implement the service change
- c. Effect on the solution specification
- d. Impact on existing services and schedules
- e. Effects on Contract Price
- f. Schedule for implementation of change
- g. Any effect on liability distribution between Customer and Contractor or third parties.

Documented costs incurred in compiling change estimates are covered by the Customer in accordance with applicable prices and conditions for additional work.

If the service change is to be implemented during the establishment phase, shall any impact on the detailed plan for the establishment phase be investigated. If investigations show that the implementation of the service change will lead to delays in relation to the detailed plan of the establishment phase, the Contractor may require adjustment of the plan.

If the preparation of change estimates in itself requires changes to the progress plan in Appendix 4 or any detailed plan for the establishment phase, the Contractor may require adjustment of the plan(s).

3.2 CHANGE ORDERS

If the Customer accepts the Contractor's assessment and price, the Customer shall notify the Contractor that the Customer wishes the service to be changed by issuing a change order. The change order must be signed by the Customer.

The Contractor shall then, within 10 (ten) business days from the Contractor receives a signed change order, ensure that the change order is incorporated into the agreement so that changes in specifications, progress plan, technical platform, tests, requirements for Customer involvement and changes in contract price are stated in the agreement.

The changes must be submitted to the Customer for approval.

The terms of the agreement also apply to change orders unless explicitly stated otherwise in the change order.

3.3 DOCUMENTATION OF THE CHANGE

Changes to the maintenance service as specified in clause 3.2 shall be made in writing and shall be signed by the authorized representative of the parties. The Contractor shall maintain a directory of the changes on an ongoing basis, which directory shall form Appendix 9, and shall without undue delay provide the Customer with an updated copy thereof.

3.4 IMPACT OF THE CHANGE ORDER

If the Customer requires a change, the Contractor has the right to require changes to the contract price and progress plan or other conditions caused by Customer's change requirements.

Changes in the contract price shall be calculated on the basis of the hourly rates or other unit prices shown in Appendix 7, provided that the change in work is substantially similar to the contracted work, the hourly rate or unit price is fixed for.

If the change is not possible to calculate based on hourly rates or unit prices in Appendix 7, the Contractor shall make an offer for addition or deduction for the changes. The offer shall reflect the general price level in the Agreement.

If the required changes initially would lead to changes in the agreed start-up date or delivery date, the Contractor shall, as long as it is practically possible, attempt to accelerate the implementation so that the agreed start-up date or delivery date still can be maintained. In this case, the accelerating shall be considered as a change to be treated in accordance with the rules in clause 3.

When the Contractor receives the change order, it shall be implemented without undue delay unless otherwise agreed. This applies even if the effect of the change order on the contract price, progress plan or other terms of the agreement has not yet been finally determined.

3.5 DISPUTE DUE TO THE CONSEQUENCES OF A CHANGE

If the parties agree that there is a change, but the parties disagree on the effect of the change on the contract price, the Customer shall pay a provisional consideration calculated in accordance with the rules in clause 3.4, second paragraph. If there is no required decision from an independent expert or broker or litigation to clarify the consequences of the change work within 6 (six) months after the delivery date or the date of notification of cancellation or cancellation was received by the Contractor, the already paid consideration shall be deemed to be final.

The Contractor shall provide security for the disputed part of the payment, alternatively choose to get paid half of the disputed part of the payment until the date on which the payment is finally considered.

3.6 DISAGREEMENT AS TO WHETHER THERE IS A CHANGE

If the Customer requires written notice in the form of orders, specifications or otherwise performed a specific work which the Contractor does not consider to be part of his obligations under the agreement, the Contractor shall in writing require that the Customer make a change order.

The Contractor shall, together with the request for change orders, send the Customer an assessment of the relevant risk and change consequences and provide a price estimate (change estimate) according to clause 3.4, second paragraph. Costs in connection with the preparation of the change estimates are covered by the Customer if the Contractor is given the right in his claim for change order.

If the Contractor fails to make such claims within a reasonable period of time, the work shall be deemed to be a part of the Contractor's obligation under the agreement and the Contractor loses his right to invoke his work as a basis for extension of time, additional remuneration or compensation until such time as the claim for change order is promoted. Such claims must, however, be promoted no later than 6 (six) months after the work was commenced.

3.7 DISPUTED CHANGE ORDER

If the Contractor has demanded that the Customer send a change order pursuant to clause 3.2, the Customer shall within a reasonable period of time issue a change order pursuant to clause 3.2, or in writing waive the claim.

If the Customer considers that the work is part of the operating service, it must be expressly stated that the change order is disputed (disputed change order). The change order shall contain a reason for why the Customer considers that the change order is disputed.

Even if the change order is disputed, the Contractor has a duty to perform what is imposed against the Customer paying a preliminary consideration equivalent to half of the amount the Contractor thinks he is entitled to. If the Contractor does not require a decision of the disputed amendment pursuant to clause 3.5 within 3 (three) months after the consideration has been paid or if the work is deemed to be within the contract, the provisional consideration shall be offset against the next payment. If the work is considered a change, the fixed compensation for the change, adjusted for the preliminary consideration, shall be incorporated into the ordinary payment plan.

The Contractor may contest the duty to perform the work by requiring a decision by an independent expert or mediator or raise a lawsuit or bring the dispute in for arbitration to make his claim final. Such claims must be granted without undue delay as a result of the work being postponed if it is stipulated that the work is covered by the contract. The exception in this section does not apply to work related to services that affect life and health or the provision of community-critical services.

3.8 RESOLUTION – DISPUTED CHANGE ORDER

If the Contractor has received a disputed change order, the Contractor must, within 6 (six) months after receiving the contested change order, either require a decision from an independent expert or mediator or raise a lawsuit or bring the dispute to arbitration to claim finally decided. If the Contractor does not work there, the work is considered to be a part of the Contractor's obligations under the agreement.

4. DURATION, TERMINATION WITHOUT CAUSE, DISCHARGE AND ASSIGNMENT OF THE AGREEMENT

4.1 DURATION AND TERMINATION WITHOUT CAUSE

Unless another term of duration or a different commencement date is agreed in Appendix 4, the Agreement shall be for a term of three (3) years starting from the date set out on page two of the Agreement (commencement date). The Agreement shall thereafter be automatically renewed for a term of one (1) year at a time, unless the Customer terminates the Agreement without cause by giving three (3) months' notice prior to the renewal date. The Contractor may terminate the Agreement without cause by giving twelve (12) months' notice prior to the renewal date. If in practice the Contractor is the sole provider of maintenance services for material elements of the software covered by the Agreement, it may terminate the Agreement without cause by giving twenty-four (24) months' notice, but not during the initial four (4) years, such that the total term of the Agreement shall be a minimum of six (6) years.

4.2 CANCELLATION

The Customer may cancel, in whole or in part, the deliverables contracted under this Agreement giving three (3) month's written notice.

In the event of such cancellation, the Customer shall pay:

- a) Any amount due to the Contractor in respect of the part of the maintenance deliverables that has already been performed.
- b) The Contractor's necessary and documented direct costs in relation to the reassignment of personnel.
- c) Other documented direct costs incurred by the Contractor as the result of the cancellation, hereunder disbursements and costs that have been incurred by the Contractor prior to its receipt of the notice of cancellation, and which the Contractor is unable to make use of for other purposes.

In addition, the Customer shall pay a cancellation fee of four (4) per cent of the annual consideration.

A different cancellation fee may be agreed between the parties in Appendix 7.

In the case of partial cancellation, the cancellation fee shall be calculated on the basis of the share of the contract price accounted for by the cancelled items. The hourly liquidated damages shall accumulate automatically and amount to 0.2 per cent of the overall annual consideration, excluding Value Added Tax, for each hour, or part thereof, of delay. The hourly liquidated damages shall only accumulate during ordinary working hours on working days. The liability for accumulated hourly liquidated damages may not exceed 5 per cent of the annual consideration per instance of breach of contract and 15 per cent of the annual consideration per year. Any accumulated hourly liquidated damages and standardised damages shall be deducted from any other damages in respect of the same delay/breach.

11.4.6 Limitation of damages

No damages may be claimed in respect of indirect loss. Indirect loss includes, but is not limited to, lost earnings of any kind, lost savings, loss of data, and claims from third parties, with the exception of liability for damages imposed as a result of defects in title.

The obligations of the affected party shall be suspended for as long as the extraordinary situation prevails. The corresponding obligations of the other party shall be suspended for the same period.

In force majeure situations, the other party may only terminate the Agreement for breach with the consent of the affected party, or if the situation prevails or is expected to prevail for more than ninety (90) calendar days as from the date on which such situation arose, and in such case only with fifteen (15) calendar days' notice. Each of the parties shall cover their own costs associated with the ending of the contractual relationship. The Customer shall pay the agreed price for the part of the deliverables that was performed prior to the Agreement coming to an end. The parties may not present other claims against each other due to the Agreement coming to an end pursuant to this provision.
