Bioforsk Organic unit is going to purchase GPS collars for use on free ranging red deer in Norway. We are interested in collars with SMS possibilities for transmitting data through the mobile/cell phone network. The collars will be used at red deer of different ages and sex and must cover our requirement specification (see below). The main bulk of the collars are intended for adult red deer (body weight 80-180 kg), but we are also interested in collars for younger red deer (calves; bodyweight 30-60 kg). Young red deer are growing animals and this need to be taken into account.

The GPS collars must be delivered by the end of November 2014.
